

The Angels Christmas Market in Edinburgh

As in previous years, this year's Christmas Market in the heart of Edinburgh enjoys great popularity with locals and tourists. Children also look forward to the new additions to Santa Land, in the picturesque setting below the Castle Rock. Edinburgh's Christmas is a visitor magnet – for the 500,000 inhabitants of the city, for many other fans of the Scottish capital city, and for numerous tourists from all over the world.

The Christmas Market joy extends from the National Gallery, across the Mound, and runs on three levels across the Eastern part of Princes Street Gardens. This places it at the feet of the famous Scott Monument and close to the central train and bus stations. The romantic Christmas Market revives the wonderful city of Edinburgh – along with other attractions, such as an ice skating rink, the impressive Ferris wheel next to the Scott Monument, a Christmas tree maze, and various rides.

As with its sister event – the Angels Christmas Market in London's Hyde Park – the lighting, arrangement, and design of the stands – as well as the selection of exhibitors and gastronomers – contribute to present a festive feel-good world in unique surroundings.

Professionally organised and artistically designed Christmas Markets enjoy great popularity in Scotland. The romantic Christmas market culture, with its diverse and extraordinary range of handicrafts, gift ideas, jewellery, art, and international gastronomic delicacies – as well as everything Christmassy – will delight the whole family.

„Oh, it's so unique!“, „Marvellous!“ and „Wonderful!“ are exclamations that repeatedly confirm this. The hand-picked traders, artisans, and gastronomers all contribute to the unique Christmas market atmosphere being established long-term.
